Head of Private Market Solutions

Relevant Experience

Ben Leach is a Senior Director in WTW's Investments business responsible for leading its private markets platform and for leading strategic growth initiatives more broadly. As the Head of Private Markets Solutions, he's responsible for all commercial aspects of WTW's offering which is responsible for >$65bn of clients' assets. Ben returned to London in 2022 following 4 years in Chicago where he established and led the growth of WTW's specialist investment management business and team in North America.

Ben joined WTW in London at the beginning of 2017 from the FirstRand Group. He has spent his career working in the investment industry leading the development and growth of new solutions, distribution channels and investment capabilities in both investment banking and asset management organisations. Having lived and worked in four countries on three continents, Ben's combination of deep industry understanding and an ability to connect with diverse groups of people ultimately enables him to lead his teams to deliver better outcomes for his clients. He began his career in Johannesburg as an analyst in a direct private equity boutique.

Education and Certifications

Ben is a member of the CFA Institute, has a Masters in Finance from London Business School and a B.Bus.Sc (Hons) in Finance & Economics from the University of Cape Town, South Africa.
